xsignal.io

new vulnerability scanner

Affiliate program for pentesters and information security managers

XSignal.io is a new cloud-based vulnerability scanner in the external perimeter of the network infrastructure: Web services, APIs, databases, and more.

- XSignal.io can scan subnets (up to /24) and single resources;
- Open API. Therefore, it integrates easily in Pipeline development with any repository (GitLab, GitHub, Bitbacket) for Secure SDLC.

Who are we?

XSIGNAL INC is incorporated based in the USA. We are members of the Starta Vc accelerator from New York.

We have partnerships with AWS, Okta, Gitlab, and others.

GitLab GitHub Bitbucket okta aws

XSignal.io features:

200+ 200+ author's descriptions of vulnerabilities and author's checks for popular web services: Jira, Gitlab and others.

15 min The maximum scan time is 15 minutes.

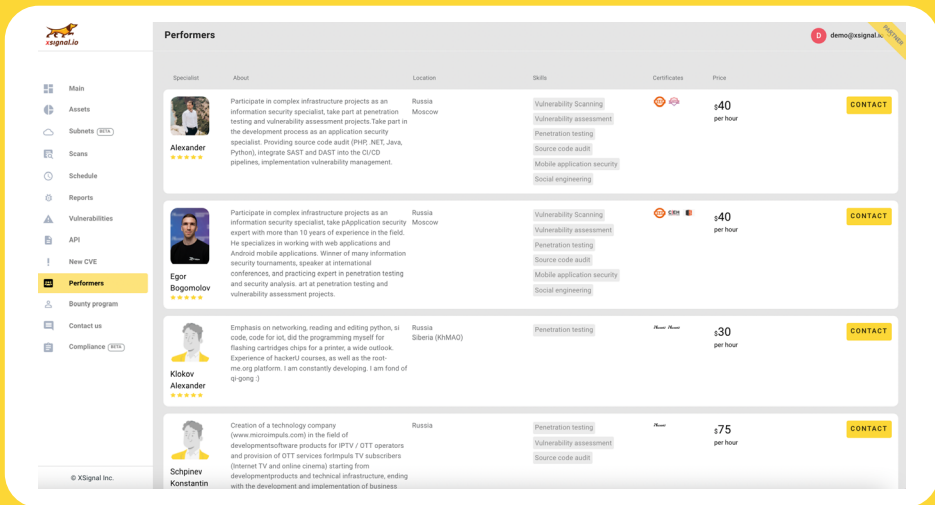
new vulnerability scanner

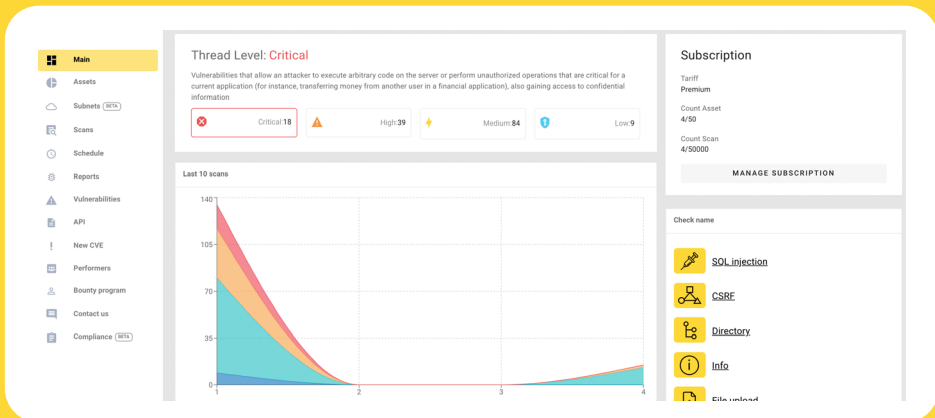
Our feature is a community of pentesters

For them, we have a profitable partnership offer.

What you get:

- We provide the product for FREE on the Premium plan.
- We include the specialist's questionnaire in our closed marketplace of performers. The fact is that after the scan results, our regular clients often need to be provided with the assistance of an IS specialist. We solve this problem for them by offering performers. The catalog has a rating and filters by price, specialization, geography. XSignal users will be able to choose you as a performer and you will get a new client. Our commission is 0%!
- We have bug bounties, rewards for new checks and CVE descriptions. Together with the community, we want to make our product the best scanner on the market.
- We pay an agency commission from 30% to 50% of all payments of new clients who join us on your recommendation. Once you have clients to recommend our product as a tool for monitoring and continuous penetration testing, you will receive a reward.





Join us!

What you need to do is:

- You fill in an application on the site link xsignal.io/affiliateprogram – it takes about 5 minutes.
- We contact you and send you the agency agreement and NDA.
- We provide access to the product for a period of 1 year with the possibility of annual renewal.
